ISRO inks MoU to establish SpaceTech Innovation Network

The partnership is a step forward in providing further stimulus to India's recent space reform policies, says ISRO.

The Hindu Bureau BENGALURU
The Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) has signed a MoU with Social Alpha, a multistage innovation curation and venture development platform for science and technology start-ups, to launch Space-Tech Innovation Network (SpIN).
SpIN is India's first dedicated platform for innovation, curation, and venture development for the burgeoning space entrepreneurial ecosystem. The space agency said that the tie-up is one-of-a-kind public-private collaboration for start-ups and SMEs in the space industry.
"This novel partnership is a significant step forward said. It added that SpIN will primarily focus on facilitating space tech entrepreneurs in three distinct innovation categories: Geospatial Technologies and Downstream Applications; Enabling Technologies for Space & Mobility; and Aerospace Materials, Sensors, and Avionics.

"Innovative technologies are expected to bring a paradigm shift in utilising the space applications to maximise the economic, social, and environmental benefits for the larger society. I wish the SpIN platform would create a level playing field for various stakeholders to collaborate and contribute to the space ecosystem in the country," said S. Somnath, Chairman, ISRO.

Mirabai makes light of wrist issue to win silver at World weightlifting

Sports Bureau

Olympic silver medalist Mirabai Chanu defied a wrist issue to secure a silver medal in the women's 49kg category at the World weightlifting championships in Bogota on Tuesday.
Mirabai lifted 87kg in snatch and 113kg in clean and jerk to total 200kg and win her second medal in the World championships. She had taken gold in 48kg with an aggregate of 194kg in Anaheim in 2017 and had finished fourth in 49kg with 201kg in Pattaya in 2019.
Mirabai managed to hoist 87kg with some difficulty in her third effort and placed fifth behind Chinese Jiang Huihua (93kg), Romanian Mihaela Cambel (90kg), another Chinese Hou Zhihui (89kg) and Belgian Nina Sterckx (89kg).

In clean and jerk, Mirabai - the world record holder in the women's 49kg category - could not lift 111kg in her opening effort before tasting success in the second and getting into the medal contention. In her final attempt, the Indian matched Huihua's second effort of 113kg to ensure her second international medal of the year after her Commonwealth Games gold (201kg).
Proud moment
"It's an emotionally proud moment to bring another World championship medal back home after five long years. The competition is always intense at the highest level. I had a wrist pain but I am always ready to push myself to cross the line for my country," said Mirabai.

"It is a very good result. Despite the problems (relating to Mirabai's wrist), we are on the right track. She could not lift 87kg in her second attempt as her left hand pressed out due to the injury. Same thing happened in the opening clean and jerk attempt. As 113kg would have given her the silver, we did not try a higher weight," chief national coach Vijay Sharma said.
Huuhua won her third World title (93kg, 113kg, 206kg). Olympic champion Zhihui, who skipped her third effort after doing 109kg in clean and jerk, took bronze medal (89kg, 109kg, 198kg).

Proud moment: Mirabai with her reward. SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT
